Hi Buket,

Please find below the responses to each of the feedback points raised by Alison. I have addressed them in the same order as listed in her email. Could you please review this before we send it across to the client?

1. CRM Tabs – Creator Portal Link Missing

We are not sure which specific link is being referred to here, as the portal button is currently visible on the instruction records. Could Alison please share a screenshot or specify where exactly she is expecting to see the Creator Portal link? This will help us identify and resolve it quickly.

2. Client Portal – "Save Changes / Remove Changes" Option

This is a default Zoho Creator behaviour for reports. Whenever you apply any custom filters, sorting (ascending/descending), or search criteria on a report, the "Save Changes" and "Remove Changes" options will appear. Here is what they do:

Save Changes – Saves the current filter/sorting configuration so that the next time you visit the report, these filters will be applied by default.
Remove Changes – Removes all the applied filters and sorting, reverting the report back to its original state.

This is not something we have added; it is a built-in feature of the Zoho platform and is available across all reports.

3. "Zoho WorkDrive Folder Not Found" Message

We have noted this. The WorkDrive folder is created automatically by the system when the site visit record is generated via the script. This message may appear in certain cases where the folder has not yet been initialised. We will hide this message so that it no longer appears on the screen.

4. Site Visit Ref – Blank in Client Portal

The Site Visit Reference field is populated automatically via a script based on the premises name and postal code. We have identified the gap and will update the logic so that this field is populated correctly when the site visit record is created. We will have this fixed and updated by Monday.

5. Investigator Portal – How Will We Know When an Investigator Has Accepted?

If you navigate to the My Site Visits report, there is an "Accept Investigation" column which shows whether an investigator has accepted or rejected the site visit. We will also add a new column for the "Accepted Date and Time" so that you can see exactly when the investigator accepted the instruction. We will have this updated by Monday.

6. Submitting Report – Saving Draft Before Uploading Files

We understand the concern. The system currently works as follows: when the "Visit Report Completed" checkbox is checked and the record is updated, the record gets locked and can no longer be edited. This is by design, as it triggers downstream workflows and status updates across the system.

However, the investigator does not need to check the "Visit Report Completed" checkbox immediately. They can fill in all the required fields, leave the checkbox unchecked, and simply click "Update." This saves the data as a draft, and they can return at any time to upload the audio files, sketch plan, and expense receipts. Once everything is uploaded and ready, they can then check the "Visit Report Completed" checkbox and click "Update" to finalise the submission.

To make this clearer and easier to use, we will replace the existing checkboxes with a single radio button selection – either "Draft" or "Visit Report Completed." This way, the investigator can clearly choose to save as a draft or mark the report as completed, avoiding any confusion. We will have this change in place by Monday.

7. Seconds Still Showing in Music Track Email Report

Thank you for flagging this. The seconds were previously removed from the Creator form, but they were still being displayed in the report template. We will update the report generation script to show only hours and minutes, removing the seconds entirely. This will be fixed and updated by Monday.

8. Downloading and Re-uploading Report/Invoice

We understand this adds an extra step, and we would like to explain why the current workflow is structured this way.

The report is initially generated as a Zoho Writer document in WorkDrive. This is intentional, as the reviewer needs to open the report, review the content, and sometimes add images or screenshots before the report is finalised. Since these edits need to happen in a document format, we generate it in Writer rather than directly as a PDF.

Once the edits are complete, the report needs to be sent to the client as a PDF (not as a Writer document). The current process requires downloading the edited Writer document as a PDF and then uploading it back to the site visit record. This upload step triggers the generation of an external sharing link, which is used to send the report to the client via email and also makes it accessible in the client portal.

We are exploring options to streamline this process by automating the PDF conversion and upload step. However, this would require careful changes across multiple workflows to ensure nothing in the existing flow is affected. We will review this further and get back to you with a feasible approach and the estimated effort involved.

9. All Org Instructions – Not Pulling Through

We have identified this as a script issue in the report linked to the "All Org Instructions" tab. We will fix the underlying script and ensure that all instructions across the organisation are displayed correctly. This will be fixed and updated by Monday.

10. Task/Email Alert for Invoice Creation After Audio Tracks Are Sent

The flow for this is already in place. When audio files are present and the relevant checkbox is checked, a task is created and assigned to the appropriate person. Once that task is marked as completed, an email notification is sent to Melissa and Alison to review and create the invoice. We will test this flow again from end to end to ensure it is working as expected and will confirm the results by Monday.

Hi Buket,

I hope that you are well. We have now completed our testing (all apart from the invoicing section, details of which we have noted below). I can no longer open the link in your original document, so have noted our points/queries below.

As I said, overall, immense improvements have been made to the system and we are very happy with the simplicity and flow now. We don't believe that the points we are making below are huge and are hoping they can be resolved/answered very easily.

- CRM tabs appear to have changed. It was handy having the link to Creator Portal on top line (Tega did this for us earlier in the process). This is no longer an option.

- Client Portal – Why do they have 'save change/remove changes' option? Not sure what this means and it doesn't appear to work. We have a save draft option for client, so not sure why this would be necessary? Not something we asked for.

- The following message keeps appearing in the centre of the screen – ' Zoho Workdrive Folder not Found'. We think this may be due to it just being a test base just now, but wanted to flag just in case.

- In client portal 'site visit ref' why is this blank?

- In Investigator portal – how will we know when and if an Investigator has accepted an instruction?

- When submitting their report, the Investigator needs to complete the fields, then upload any music files, sketch plan and expenses receipts. We tried this, however wanted to save the report, i.e. when the fields were completed. This then locked us out of uploading any music files, sketch plan or expenses receipts. We had asked for the Investigator to have the ability to save their report then upload their files. This sometimes will take the Investigators some time to do and they may undertake these tasks separately as the uploads can take a while.

- In the email report which is sent to the client telling them what music tracks have been recorded, the seconds are still listed. We had asked for them to be removed from the choices that the Investigator makes, as it is too hard to get absolutely accurate, by the second and as it is a legal document, it needs to be absolutely correct. This change was made, however the seconds are still shown on this report. Can they be removed please as it makes all the times of the tracks incorrect legally?

- We just wanted to ask the question again of why we have to download the report and invoice to a local location and then upload it again, when sending to client. It seems strange that we cannot simply load this directly from the workdrive link? It would save a lot of time and effort if we could do this, so it would be good to know why we can't.

- When putting a new instruction on as a client, the instruction goes on ok and can be seen in "My Instructions". However, when clicking on "All Org Instructions" none of the instructions pull through to that tab. Alison put on a premises as a client and then I put on one, and I was expecting to be able to see Alison's instruction as well as mine, however this didn't happen.

- Once audio tracks are sent to client, a task/email should be sent to Melissa/Alison to alert them to make invoice. Can't see this happening during the testing, therefore we haven't fully tested the invoicing section or the Investigator's invoices and payments. We wanted to get resolved first.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards

Hi Buket,

Happy New Year to you and all the team also.

Since the start of 2026, we have undertaken a huge IT upgrade and this is now coming to a conclusion (thank goodness!). I have an external Audit to prepare for next week and after this I will have more time to dedicate to the music system.

I appreciate all the work undertaken to date and I am looking forward to testing it. Apologies about the delay, however I will return to you in the first week of February to update.

Hi Alison,

Hope you are doing well!

Regarding the feedback raised about allowing investigators to upload supporting documents for miscellaneous expenses (e.g. parking, entry fees, food & drink receipts), we have a few clarifications to ensure we implement this correctly:

1. Where should the uploaded receipts be stored?

   Would you prefer them to sit within the invoice section or store in the respective Jobs Workdrive folder? In the Jobs Workdrive folder (assuming that this is where the reports and invoices are also stored)

2. What should happen after the receipts are uploaded? Nothing, as long as John can access these and copy and paste the receipts into reports, this is what is required.

Once we have clarity on the above, we will propose the best approach—whether that is creating a new Miscellaneous upload category or repurposing the existing Sketch Plan section.

Looking forward to your guidance.

Hi Akanksha,

I have been in and out of the office now for 2 weeks so apologies for the delay in getting back to you. I have gone through the document you sent last week and have real concerns that there is a lack of understanding between ID and A2Z.

One of the main aspects of the system as explained to Tega was that we could not have duplicate premises on the system. The way in which you have set this up means that there will always be duplicate premises as nothing is linking instructions to premises.

We asked for all instructions to be linked to the premises so that there was ever one premises and no duplicates. Again, all instructions are going on separately and are in no way linked to the premises. We envisages examples of one premises with 3 or 4 separate instructions, which is what happens in reality.

We specifically asked that when we were putting a premises on, that a check was undertaken by the system on say the Name and Postcode and if a premises already existed within the system of these details, then it would ask us if we wanted to create a duplicate. This is does not do.

I note your answer that Tega told us that the Database of premises did not need to be in Creator. This makes absolutely no sense to me and makes me believe that you simply don't understand what we have asked for and why it is so crucial. How you expect us to understand the ramifications of designing certain aspects of the system in other parts of the system, when we have literally no knowledge of Zoho is baffling to me.
When we first engaged with A2Z, we made very clear that we had absolutely no knowledge of the workings or mechanics of Zoho. It is difficult for us to gauge the knock on effects of any decisions you made regarding the build of the system when we have no knowledge and were relying on you to construct a system which would match our functional needs.

From the client point on view, when they are instructing us, they do not see any premises in CRM, which is correct. They only see their part of the system where they instruct, however, when they put an instruction on, the same check should occur, e.g. if the name and postcode of the instruction has already been instructed by that client company (not just by them but any other Lawyer in the Company), then this should flag up to them and they would then be able to mark it as a reinstruction and from their point of view carry forward on any findings or queries from the previous instruction to the reinstruction. If this does not happen, then the whole system fails. It simply won't work for them.

I am now at the point where I am really beginning to despair that our initial and crucial objectives have been overwritten and diluted to the point that the system simply will not function the way it needs to and the way in which we initially requested. Too many people have been involved in this build and we are now left with a system which is not functioning the way we need it to for either ID or our clients.

Section 4 - In regards to the misc invoicing, you seem to have misread the situation, there is no issue with adding the totals, however as I said, we need to upload the actual receipt documents. So in the same way that we have upload sections for audio visual files and sketch maps, we will need one for miscellaneous, so that our Investigators can upload their parking receipts, food and drink receipts and any other expenses which they have described in their invoice.

Section 8 Again you seem to have misunderstood this. We do not want the client to have any access to the portal or to add premises. What we need is when they are in their instructing section (the only section they have access to), that they can search for premises within their own instructions and that of their colleagues at the same time. Currently this has to be undertaken separately, e.g. search once within their own instructions then search within all client instructions. This does not seem functional.

We really need to move this along now as it is getting increasingly embarrassing that we have not been able to produce this system to our clients. It is also taking up far too much of my time continually testing and going back and forward with issues. We need to bring this to a conclusion soon, however we will not be able to until the aforementioned issues regarding instructions being linked to premises, duplicate premises being prevented and client searches are inmproved.

Kind regards

Dear Alison,

Thank you very much for sharing your detailed feedback following your recent testing. We truly appreciate the time and attention you've given to reviewing the system - your observations are extremely helpful in ensuring everything functions as intended.

We've gone through all the points raised and noted that a few items require input from Tega, who is currently on leave and will be back on Monday. Once he returns, we'll review those specific points with him to confirm the best approach.

In the meantime, we are proceeding with the quick fixes and straightforward updates that do not require further clarification, so progress continues in parallel.

We'll share a consolidated update with you by Wednesday next week, once we've completed the review with Tega and validated all the remaining items.

Thank you again for your continued collaboration and understanding - it's greatly appreciated.

Kind regards,

We had asked for them to be removed from the choices that the Investigator makes, as it is too hard to get absolutely accurate, by the second and as it is a legal document, it needs to be absolutely correct. This change was made, however the seconds are still shown on this report. Can they be removed please as it makes all the times of the tracks incorrect legally?

- We just wanted to ask the question again of why we have to download the report and invoice to a local location and then upload it again, when sending to client. It seems strange that we cannot simply load this directly from the workdrive link? It would save a lot of time and effort if we could do this, so it would be good to know why we can't.

- When putting a new instruction on as a client, the instruction goes on ok and can be seen in "My Instructions". However, when clicking on "All Org Instructions" none of the instructions pull through to that tab. Alison put on a premises as a client and then I put on one, and I was expecting to be able to see Alison's instruction as well as mine, however this didn't happen.

- Once audio tracks are sent to client, a task/email should be sent to Melissa/Alison to alert them to make invoice. Can't see this happening during the testing, therefore we haven't fully tested the invoicing section or the Investigator's invoices and payments. We wanted to get resolved first.

We look forward to hearing from you.

Kind regards

Hi Buket,

Happy New Year to you and all the team also.

Since the start of 2026, we have undertaken a huge IT upgrade and this is now coming to a conclusion (thank goodness!). I have an external Audit to prepare for next week and after this I will have more time to dedicate to the music system.

I appreciate all the work undertaken to date and I am looking forward to testing it. Apologies about the delay, however I will return to you in the first week of February to update.

Kind regards

Hi Alison,

Hope you are doing well!

Regarding the feedback raised about allowing investigators to upload supporting documents for miscellaneous expenses (e.g. parking, entry fees, food & drink receipts), we have a few clarifications to ensure we implement this correctly:

1. Where should the uploaded receipts be stored?

   Would you prefer them to sit within the invoice section or store in the respective Jobs Workdrive folder? In the Jobs Workdrive folder (assuming that this is where the reports and invoices are also stored)

2. What should happen after the receipts are uploaded? Nothing, as long as John can access these and copy and paste the receipts into reports, this is what is required.

Once we have clarity on the above, we will propose the best approach—whether that is creating a new Miscellaneous upload category or repurposing the existing Sketch Plan section.

Looking forward to your guidance.

Hi Akanksha,

I have been in and out of the office now for 2 weeks so apologies for the delay in getting back to you. I have gone through the document you sent last week and have real concerns that there is a lack of understanding between ID and A2Z.

One of the main aspects of the system as explained to Tega was that we could not have duplicate premises on the system. The way in which you have set this up means that there will always be duplicate premises as nothing is linking instructions to premises.

We asked for all instructions to be linked to the premises so that there was ever one premises and no duplicates. Again, all instructions are going on separately and are in no way linked to the premises. We envisages examples of one premises with 3 or 4 separate instructions, which is what happens in reality.

We specifically asked that when we were putting a premises on, that a check was undertaken by the system on say the Name and Postcode and if a premises already existed within the system of these details, then it would ask us if we wanted to create a duplicate. This is does not do.

I note your answer that Tega told us that the Database of premises did not need to be in Creator. This makes absolutely no sense to me and makes me believe that you simply don't understand what we have asked for and why it is so crucial. How you expect us to understand the ramifications of designing certain aspects of the system in other parts of the system, when we have literally no knowledge of Zoho is baffling to me. When we first engaged with A2Z, we made very clear that we had absolutely no knowledge of the workings or mechanics of Zoho. It is difficult for us to gauge the knock on effects of any decisions you made regarding the build of the system when we have no knowledge and were relying on you to construct a system which would match our functional needs.

From the client point on view, when they are instructing us, they do not see any premises in CRM, which is correct. They only see their part of the system where they instruct, however, when they put an instruction on, the same check should occur, e.g. if the name and postcode of the instruction has already been instructed by that client company (not just by them but any other Lawyer in the Company), then this should flag up to them and they would then be able to mark it as a reinstruction and from their point of view carry forward on any findings or queries from the previous instruction to the reinstruction. If this does not happen, then the whole system fails. It simply won't work for them.

I am now at the point where I am really beginning to despair that our initial and crucial objectives have been overwritten and diluted to the point that the system simply will not function the way it needs to and the way in which we initially requested. Too many people have been involved in this build and we are now left with a system which is not functioning the way we need it to for either ID or our clients.

Section 4 - In regards to the misc invoicing, you seem to have misread the situation, there is no issue with adding the totals, however as I said, we need to upload the actual receipt documents. So in the same way that we have upload sections for audio visual files and sketch maps, we will need one for miscellaneous, so that our Investigators can upload their parking receipts, food and drink receipts and any other expenses which they have described in their invoice.

Section 8 Again you seem to have misunderstood this. We do not want the client to have any access to the portal or to add premises. What we need is when they are in their instructing section (the only section they have access to), that they can search for premises within their own instructions and that of their colleagues at the same time. Currently this has to be undertaken separately, e.g. search once within their own instructions then search within all client instructions. This does not seem functional.

We really need to move this along now as it is getting increasingly embarrassing that we have not been able to produce this system to our clients. It is also taking up far too much of my time continually testing and going back and forward with issues. We need to bring this to a conclusion soon, however we will not be able to until the aforementioned issues regarding instructions being linked to premises, duplicate premises being prevented and client searches are inmproved.

Kind regards

Dear Alison,

Thank you very much for sharing your detailed feedback following your recent testing. We truly appreciate the time and attention you've given to reviewing the system - your observations are extremely helpful in ensuring everything functions as intended.

We've gone through all the points raised and noted that a few items require input from Tega, who is currently on leave and will be back on Monday. Once he returns, we'll review those specific points with him to confirm the best approach.

In the meantime, we are proceeding with the quick fixes and straightforward updates that do not require further clarification, so progress continues in parallel.

We'll share a consolidated update with you by Wednesday next week, once we've completed the review with Tega and validated all the remaining items.

Thank you again for your continued collaboration and understanding - it's greatly appreciated.

Kind regards,

Akanksha Anand

Hi Akanksha,

I hope that you are well. I have undertaken testing again with the team over the past few days. As I said in my earlier email, I understand that a lot of work has gone into getting the system to where it is now, the functionality is very good and the movement through the stages are much better.

I have attached a document with our findings. You will hopefully be pleased that it is only 4 pages long. We are getting down to the final stages now and we have questions about how we will use the system and also several issues
